Comment:

- Yes for Christianity, not so much other religions
- Both have joined JaM club
- Egton School has an excellent Christian ethos which was a strong point for choosing the school

What I like about our school as a church	What I would like to see improved about school:	our school as a church school:
All children are considerate and really work together well	N/A
I really like how much the church is used for plays throughout the year	Nothing I think the balance is right Nothing
The way as a church school children are nurtured from reception through to Y6 with Christian values making selfless choices second nature	Reflection on other forms of religious contemplation e.g. meditation
Proximity to church Christian and 'life' values	Historical underpinning of world religious beliefs, where and why religions come from – how they have become what they are
That they create strong loving values for the children to adopt and follow	Do the children have RE lessons as frequently as they used to?
I like how the school involves parent's and families to be involved with different events throughout the year. The close school-church links are a positive influence on my child and school. I like that we regularly see the Reverend when collecting my child and that my child talks about this at home. The reverend is very approachable. This helps to make the school feel like a family.	I hope that meditation and mindfulness will be included into the school day. This can have a huge effect on children's well-being I would like to be more informed on what exactly is covered as part of the children's education in RE Perhaps visits to other religious places of worship — although might be difficult in this area
Lovely family unit	Parking/Safety/learning about Moors/river/woods
Values taught such as care and consider for others	A family service would be nice
It's focus on compassion, kindness, friendly- values that go through life. Our school doesn't 'stuff' religion down their throats but makes it a part of day to day life to help the children. I'm not religious but I like the way works as a church school

Puts my daughter on the right path we would like her to grow up on
I like the positive and caring attitude it provides Encouraging kindness, forgiveness and tolerance
I like the children learning songs and visiting the church often. She's enthusiastic about JaM.
I like that my child is taught to be kind and considerate to others and that she experiences community through the church association
Close links with the church in Egton and good relationship with Rev. Paul
The school has a 'family-like' environment which is partly created by being a church school.
The Christian Values: kindness, family atmosphere, supportive of each other, respectful ethos.
It's a lovely sense of being a little family as opposed to a school and the links with the church are brilliant.

School Response:

Thank you for your lovely responses, it is nice to know that our efforts are valued and that they are having an impact on our children and families.
